

TIN Arts Vision

To create participatory and progression opportunities for those with least access to the arts to realise and celebrate their creative ability and potential through active participation and the exploration of dance and the wider performing arts.

TIN Arts Mission

To further grow the range and breadth of our inclusive dance activities through entering into new partnerships and collaborations on a regional and national scale thereby increasing the number of people engaging in, experiencing and viewing our work.

TIN Arts Key Principles and Values

At the heart of TIN Arts is a set of principles and values that form and shape all that we do. Our principles and values guide our work and ensure that quality is central to all of our activity:

1. Engaging

Our work is flexible and responsive to the needs of those we are engaging enabling enjoyable, relevant and well-paced sessions.

2. Supportive

We encourage all board members, staff and participants to be respectful of each other valuing effort, celebrating achievements and encouraging reflection.

3. Inclusive

We enable all board members, staff and participants to play an active role in our activities and programmes by taking different abilities into account and respecting everyone's contribution.

4. Supportive of progression

We employ a range of approaches that help people improve, highlighting opportunities for development and continuing their passion for dance.

5. Effective communicators

We utilise appropriate verbal and non-verbal methods of communication at all levels enabling board members, staff and participants to understand, listen and respond to the best of their abilities.

6. Creative

We encourage experimentation, exploration and invention, from board level through to participants' creative work.

7. Dancer

We are passionate about and committed to developing dance as an art-form as well as our own movement skills.

8. Caring about the body

We understand good physical health, and care for the bodies of others as well as our own.
